APPREHENSIONS PERSIST

USPA NEWS - The Global Economic Recovery is continuing, even as the Pandemic resurges. The Global Economic Recovery is continuing, even as the Pandemic resurges. The fault lines opened up by COVID-19 are looking more persistent, near-term divergences are expected to leave lasting imprints on medium-term performance. The Global Economy is projected to grow but the momentum has weakened and uncertainty has increased.... The downward revision for 2021 reflects a downgrade for advanced economies (in part due to supply disruptions) and for low-income developing countries, largely due to worsening pandemic dynamics.

As restrictions are relaxed, demand has accelerated, but supply has been slower to respond. Although price pressures are expected to subside in most Countries in 2022, inflation prospects are highly uncertain. But given the recovery's uncharted nature, considerable uncertainty remains, and inflation could exceed forecasts for a variety of reasons. How can Policymakers boost long-term growth in the post-COVID-19 Global Economy?

No Country, Company, Executive Team, or Individual Leader will be immune from COVID-19's impact. No strategy will survive fully intact. The COVID-19 Pandemic, however, is changing (or has already changed) our collective calculus of uncertainty because there is no reference case for the COVID-19 crisis in Living Memory.

Acting in the face of uncertainty has been a defining theme of Modern Business, even within a context of Macroeconomic Stability and Continuity. Embracing this fundamental reframing (widely described as the "Next Normal") means confronting uncertainty head-on and building it into your decision-making.
